

Mission critical systems for defence

C4i Pty Ltd is a world leader in the design, development and integration of secure critical communications and command and control systems servicing the defence market.

C4i's Australian made interoperable communications solutions are used by defence, governments and industry in more than 40 countries.

C4i is established as the only sovereign Australian Defence SME with secure communication system capability. Its products enable rapid response times, interoperability, flexible asset utilisation, and cyber security protection.

www.c4i.com

