PACIFIC 2019

Australia is a maritime nation and this geographical feature is not likely to change any time soon. To coincide with the Pacific International Maritime Expo in Sydney's, ADM this month will be examining all things naval.

We will take a closer look at the Naval Shipbuilding plan in the wake of the federal election to help you join the dots and chart the course ahead for the Defence community as Defence looks to spend $90 billion on shipbuilding programs over the coming decades.

DEFENCE IN THE NORTH

The Northern Territory has become an important player in the Defence community, hosting thousands of US Marines for much of the year and is home to a vast array of training ranges. The geostrategic importance of the territory to Defence and security planners will be explored at ADM's seventh annual Northern Australia Defence Summit in Darwin.
